Medical.

DR. J. C. YOUNG,

Medical and Surgical INSTITUTE.

⁂ CONSULTATIONS, IN ALL CASES, FREE.

⁂ CURES GUARANTEED, OR NO PAY REQUIRED.

⁂ IN ALL CASES WHERE CONFIDENCE IS REQUIRED THE UTMOST SECRESY MAINTAINED.

The above rules, established by Dr. J. C. Young in 1850, and which have done so much to secure the reputation of this Institute, are still adhered to, affording those in need of medical aid, the certainty of cure and the utmost confidence.

There is nothing of so great importance to the sick as to know where to find a physician whose skill and humanity give assurance of proper and delicate treatment. The Doctor would respectfully call the attention of those of both sexes who are suffering or in trouble to the invariable success that has attended the career of the Institute in the sixteen years of its existence.

It is unnecessary in this connection to enumerate all the complaints treated at the Institute, but the Doctor feels it his duty to call especial attention to that terrible scourge,

SEMINAL WEAKNESS,

That is sapping with its insidiousness the very life of its victims; in the treatment and cure of which the Institute has earned so enviable a reputation.

EASTERN NEWS.

By overland mail we have Chicago dates to July 24 and eastern dates to the 23d.

[From the Chicago Tribune.]

EDITORIAL EXCURSIONISTS—FIGHT WITH THE INDIANS—GEN. GRANT AND PARTY.

OMAHA, July 23.—The editorial excursionists reached the end of the Union Pacific at noon, and witnessed the laying of one mile of track laid in three hours. They return to-night.

A telegram received at headquarters announces that the Indians, in a skirmish with a detachment of troops near Fort Reno, on the 19th, killed private Wm. F. Peach, Twenty-seventh Infantry, and wounded Joseph Weller, Second Cavalry. The Indian loss is not ascertained.

GEORGETOWN, (COL.), July 23.—Grant and party arrived yesterday, and visited the mines, enjoying the cool mountain air. They leave for Cheyenne to-morrow.

GRANT CLUBS FORMING IN OHIO.

CANTON, O., July 23.—The Central Grant Club of Stark county, organized last evening. Harter's Hall was full to overflowing, and all were for Grant and Colfax. Over six hundred names were enrolled. General C. T. Manderson was appointed Chairman. The enthusiasm was immense. A permanent organization was effected. The townships of the county are falling into the ranks, and within ten days there will be a Club in every county.

OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN IN SOUTHERN ILLINOIS.

CARBONDALE, July 23.—The Republican Mass Convention held here to-day, has been a great success. Fully five thousand people assembled. The morning opened, unfortunately, a heavy rainstorm prevailing up to 2 o'clock. At that time, however, the clouds broke away, and the thousands attending flocked to the grove, where stands were erected for speaking. Delegations from the surrounding counties and from various precincts in this county, bearing numerous shields with patriotic mottoes inscribed, were on the ground. A fine feature were several vehicles decorated with flowers and flags, carrying young ladies robed in white, representing the various States and Territories of the Union. Soiled, torn and bullet riddled battle flags were displayed in the procession.

Gen. John M. Palmer, Republican candidate for Governor, opened in a two hours speech of marked power. He scathingly reviewed the Democratic nominees and platform, contrasting them with the men and measures of the Republican party. He alluded to the war record of Seymour, the inconsistency and dishonesty of Blair, and showed the evident bargain and sale between Pendleton and Seymour on the currency question. He depicted the distressing consequence of the election of Seymour, and showed what prosperity decrease of taxes and increased value of bonds would follow the success of Grant.

The speech was frequently applauded and gave evident satisfaction to the many earnest men and women who heard it. At the close, three cheers were given for Gen. John M. Palmer, the future Governor of Illinois.

Colonel John Dougherty, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, followed in a speech full of sound sense and overflowing with rich humor, that kept the concourse in repeated laughter.

Meantime the ladies were partaking of the barbecue that was bountifully laid upon hundreds of yards of tabling. At the close of Col. Dougherty's speech, Hon. D. W. Munn, of Cairo, addressed the vast crowd an hour or more, arraigning the Democracy for delaying reconstruction and entailing the consequent burdensome taxation. The speech was one of his best efforts and was closely listened to.

Songs and music by the band finally closed the proceedings of perhaps the largest mass meeting ever held in this county.

WORKINGMEN'S CONVENTION AT NEWARK, OHIO.

MOUNT VERNON, O., July 23.—The Workingmen's Convention for the Thirteenth Congressional District was held in Newark, yesterday. Chas. Cooper, of Mount Vernon, was unanimously nominated for Congress.

Resolutions were adopted that the workingmen of the Thirteenth District would not support a mere politician for Congress, but would give support to some true exponent of the great industrial interest, only asking that he should stand up for the interest of the mechanic and laboring man; in favor of dividing the time into three equal parts; eight hours for labor, eight hours for sleep, and eight hours for mental, moral and religious culture, to be done as soon as practicable; that the public lands are a sacred legacy to the industry of the country, and protested against squandering them on soulless corporations; that capital and not labor should be taxed, and that the wealth of the country in all its forms should bear an equal proportion of the public burden; in favor of the protection of our native-born and naturalized citizens by government everywhere; opposed to any scheme which will discriminate in favor of any class of public creditors.

The convention was large and spirited.

THE CAMPAIGN IN IOWA.

DES MOINES, July 23.—The political campaign in Iowa is opening early. In every portion of the State Grant and Colfax clubs are being organized, rallies are being had, and the fight opened generally. We begin early so as to win 50,000 majority—40,000 for regular majority and 10,000 extra for negro suffrage. Iowa is also for Grant and Colfax.

There are over one hundred colored men in this city who were in the Sixteenth United States Infantry. They are organizing a battalion of Black Boys in Blue, and will do service in the demonstrations of the campaign. Negro suffrage found a grave yard in Ohio and Minnesota last fall. In Iowa this year it will find a resurrection.

Hon. F. W. Palmer, the eloquent standard-bearer of the Fifth Congressional District, has challenged P. Gad. Bryan, his competitor for Congress, to a joint discussion throughout their district. If P. Gad. accepts, he will merely hang himself up to get skinned.

The colored people of this city will have a grand celebration on the 1st of August, in commemoration of the Emancipation Proclamation and the freeing of the British West Indies.

General Palmer, of Illinois, has accepted the invitation of our State Central Committee, and will give us several speeches during the campaign.

CROP PROSPECTS—EXCURSIONISTS AT DETROIT.

DETROIT, July 23.—The grain crops in the State have never been finer, and advices from all parts report an enormous harvest. The dry weather is said, however, to have injuriously affected the potato yield.

Our city has to-day been visited by a party of gentlemen, principally newspaper attaches, of Cincinnati, and railroad officers connected with the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, and Cincinnati, Sandusky & Cleveland Roads, which, with the steamer Jay Cooke, form a line to Detroit via the Put-in Bay Islands. The party left for home this afternoon.

SYMONS, THE WALKER, EN ROUTE TO CHICAGO.

JANESVILLE, Wis., July 23.—Symons, the pedestrian, who left this city at two P. M. to-day, and is to reach Chicago by noon to-morrow, is very confident of success. From parties who have just returned to the city, I learn that he walked seven miles in the first hour, and was not the least fatigued. When he left here there was a perfect ovation on Main Street, and with uncovered head he passed through the crowd making strides of forty one inches, and keeping it up for over a mile. He will end his pilgrimage at the Briggs House.

MEXICO.

NEW YORK, July 23.—A letter from the City of Mexico says a leading paper there had an article intimating that a coalition of European powers with the United States was being discussed, the aim of which will be to develop Mexico and sell it out to the American Government.

GENERAL STONEMAN'S DEPARTMENT.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Extreme Radicals and Conservative Republicans are making complaints to the military authorities and to members of Congress against the manner in which Gen. Stoneman is administering affairs in his department. They claim that he has abandoned the policy regarding the filling of vacant offices instituted by Gen. Schofield, and that he is largely controlled by the rebel element of the State in all matters. They report that the rebels are more defiant at present than at any time since the surrender.

POSTAGE STAMPS.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—Bids for engraving and printing postage stamps for the next four years were opened by the Postmaster General to-day. The amount of stamps average between four and five hundred millions per year. The lowest bidder was G. W. Jones, of Washington, whose figures for the three classes of stamps were, respectively, eighteen twenty one, and twenty five cents per thousand. Three other bids ranged from twenty five to thirty cents for the same classes.

A TANNERS' CLUB AT WENONA.

WENONA, Ill., July 20, 1868.—We had quite an interesting time at this place on Saturday evening, the 18th inst., at which time we organized a "Tanners' Club" to do the tanning in this section for the firm of Grant and Colfax.

The boys responded to the call in the same spirit that they did in '61 to the call of "Honest Old Abe."

We expect to enroll, during this week, not less than two hundred of the "loyal and true."

THE WISCONSIN TEACHERS' STATE CONVENTION.

MILWAUKEE, July 21.—Over six hundred good looking teachers, male and female, assembled at the State Convention of Teachers last evening at the Skating Rink, and were handsomely welcomed to the city by His Honor the Mayor, and other speakers. D. K Smith responded in behalf of the teachers, after which Mr. Van Wyck, of Kenosha, delivered an able and eloquent address on education.

To-day has been devoted to the business of the convention, interspersed with spicy remarks on different topics connected with the advancement of education.

President Whitford gave an interesting history of the cause in this State, followed by a general discussion of the township system of schools. In addition to the usefulness of a general internal interchange of sentiment, the convention will prove a source of pleasant recreation and enjoyment.

ANOTHER INDIAN WAR IMMINENT.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—An army officer just from Fort Larned, on the Arkansas river, says from twelve to fifteen Indians, representing nearly all the tribes on the plains, were congregated at or near that post to receive their annuities, but that on account of some recent depredations committed by the Cheyennes some weeks since, Col. Wynkoop had been ordered to withhold the arms and ammunition. This the Indians said was a violation of the treaty, and they notified Colonel Wynkoop if he did not issue the arms they would fight for them; that they were ready for war again. The meeting broke up in great confusion.

That evening, the 10th inst., the Kiowas attacked a train from Kansas City, also a Mexican train and mail carrier, and robbed them of their supplies and provisions, and beat the teamster.

General Sully arrived from Fort Harder on the 11th, and told the Indians, in the presence of 850 cavalry, that he preferred peace, but he was ready for war. This awed them somewhat, but they were sullen and discontented. Colonel Wynkoop deprecates the vacillating course pursued by the government, and says the Indians in his agency were never more peaceably inclined; but he says hostilities are likely to break out at any time.

A Lieutenant and five soldiers belonging to Fort Larned had been killed by Indians. All the troops at Fort Ellsworth have been ordered to Larned, and the commanding officers of all the posts in the departments have been ordered to prepare their commands for action on the shortest possible notice.

FRANK BLAIR'S LETTER ACCEPTING THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION.

General George W. Morgan, Chairman of the Committee of the National Democratic Convention:

GENERAL: I take the earliest opportunity of replying to your letter notifying me of my nomination for Vice President of the United States by the National Democratic Convention recently held in the city of New York. I accept without hesitation the nomination tendered in a manner so gratifying, and give you, and the committee my thanks for the very kind and complimentary language in which you have conveyed to me the decision of the convention. I have carefully read the resolutions adopted by the convention, and most cordially concur in every principle and sentiment they announce. My opinions upon all the questions which discriminate the great contending parties have been freely expressed on all suitable occasions, and I do not deem it necessary at this time to reiterate them. The issue upon which the contest turns is clear, and cannot be obscured or distorted by the sophistries of our adversaries. They all resolve themselves into the old and ever-recurring struggle of a few men to absorb the political power of the nation. This effort, under every conceivable name and disguise, has always characterized the opponents of the Democratic party, but at no time has the attempt assumed so open and daring a shape as in this contest. The adversaries of free and constitutional government in defiance of the express language of the Constitution, have erected a military despotism in ten of the States of the Union; have taken from the President the power vested in him by the supreme law, and have deprived the Supreme Court of its jurisdiction and the right of trial by jury, and the great writ of right, the habeas corpus—shields of safety for every citizen, and which have descended to us from the earliest traditions of our ancestors, and which our revolutionary fathers fought to secure to their posterity forever in the fundamental charter of our liberties, and been ruthlessly trampled under foot by the fragment of a Congress. Whole States and communities of the people of our race have been attenuated, convicted and condemned and deprived of their rights as citizens without presentment or trial, or witness, but by Congressional enactment of ex post facto laws in defiance of the constitutional prohibition denying to a full and legal Congress the authority to pass any bill of attainder or ex post facto law. The same usurping authority has been substituted as electors in the place of men of your own race, thus legally attained and disfranchised a host of ignorant negroes who are supported in idleness with the public money, and combined together to strip the white race of their birthright, through the freedmen's bureaus and emissaries of the conspirators in other States, and to complete oppression, the military powers of the nation has been placed at their disposal in order to make this barbarism supreme. The military leader, under whose prestige this usurping Congress has taken refuge since the condemnation of their schemes by the free people of the North in the elections of the last year, and whom they have selected as their candidate to shield themselves from the result of their wickedness and crime, has announced his acceptance of the nomination, and his willingness to maintain the usurpations over eight millions of white people at the South, fixed to the earth with his bayonets. He exclaims, "Let us have peace." "Peace reigns in Warsaw" was the announcement which heralded the doom of the liberties of the nation. "The empire is peace," exclaimed Bonaparte, when freedom and its defenders expired under the sharp edge of the sword. The peace to which Grant invites us is the price of despotism and death. We seek to restore the Constitution by executing the will of the people. Condemning the reconstruction acts already condemned in the elections of last year, and which will I am convinced be still more emphatically expressed by the election of the Democratic candidate as President of the United States, we are denounced as revolutionists by the partisans of this vindictive Congress. Negro suffrage, which the popular vote of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, Connecticut, and other States, have condemned as expressly against the Constitution, must stand because their Senators and Representatives have willed it. If the people shall again condemn these atrocious measures by the election of a Democratic candidate for President, they must not be disturbed, although decided to be unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, and although the President is sworn to maintain and support the Constitution. The will of a fraction of a Congress reinforced with its partisan emissaries, sent to the South and supported there by the soldiery, must stand against the will of the people, and the decision of the Supreme Court, and the solemn oath of the President to maintain and support the Constitution. It is revolutionary to execute the will of the people. It is revolutionary in the President to keep inviolate his oath to sustain the Constitution. This false construction of the vital principles of our Government is the last resort of those who would away and supercede our time-honored institutions.

The nation will say the Constitution must be restored and the will of the people again prevail. The appeal to the peaceful ballot to attain this end is not revolution. They make war and revolution who attempt to arrest this quiet mode of putting aside military despotism and usurpations of a fragment of a Congress asserting absolute power over that benign system of elongated liberty left us by our fathers. This must be allowed to take its course. This is the only road to peace. It will come with the election of the Democratic candidate, and not with the election of that mailed warrior whose bayonets are now at the throats of eight millions of people in the South, to compel them to support him as a candidate for the Presidency, and to submit to the domination of an alien race of semi barbarous men. No perversion of truth, of audacity, of misrepresentation, can exceed that which hails this candidate in arms as an angel of peace.

I am, very respectfully, your most obedient servant. [Signed] FRANK P. BLAIR.

Equity Power of District Court, Sitting in Bankruptcy.

U. S. District Court—District of Oregon—July Term, 1868.

In the matter of John B. Wallace, a voluntary Bankrupt.—Petition for Injunction.

This petition was filed on June 13, 1868. It sets forth that the petitioners—The Bank of British Columbia and others are creditors of the bankrupt, and that on May 30, 1868, Wallace filed his petition in bankruptcy in this court, and that on June 8th, he was, by the Register duly adjudged to be a bankrupt. That about May 28, 1868, the respondents—C. M. Lockwood and others—commence actions against the bankrupt, in the State Courts for the county of Multnomah, to recover certain debts alleged to be due them, and caused the property of the bankrupt, to be attached to satisfy any judgment they might obtain therein; and that between June 1 and 6, the respondents obtained judgments in the [illegible] aforesaid, by default.

That afterwards said respondents sued out executions upon said judgments and placed them in the hands of the respondents, Stitzel and Hudson, sheriff and constable respectively of said county, and that said sheriff and [illegible] about to sell the property of the bankrupt [illegible] such executions.

Two days after the filing of the petition for injunction, an order was made allowing an injunction until the further order of the Court.

The respondent Lockwood now [illegible] and demurs to the petition, and for cause of [illegible] alleges:

1. That the facts stated are not sufficient to entitle the petitioners to the relief prayed for; and

2. That this Court has not jurisdiction of the matters involved in this suit as set forth in the petition.

In support of the first ground of demurrer, counsel for Lockwood insists, that the petition should show, that the respondents had notice of the adjudication in bankruptcy.

The adjudication in this Court, by which Wallace was declared a bankrupt, determined his legal status in that respect, and so far is binding upon all the world. These respondents had therefore constructive notice of the decree in bankruptcy, and that is a sufficient answer to this objection. The decree is in the nature of a proceeding in rem before a Court having jurisdiction of the subject matter, and is [illegible] and [illegible] persons, not parties thereto, that Wallace had committed an act of bankruptcy for which he had been duly [illegible] a bankrupt. [2 [illegible] 7 How 843.]

The second ground of demurrer [illegible] the question: Has the District Court equity power in proceedings in bankruptcy?

The first section of the Act of 1867, provides "the several District Courts of the U. S. [illegible] of Bankruptcy," with "jurisdiction [illegible] in their respective districts in all [illegible] in bankruptcy."

This Court being thus declared a Court of Bankruptcy, with jurisdiction over all matters and proceedings in Bankruptcy, it would [illegible] as a matter of course, that [illegible] inherently belongs to it, as may be found [illegible] and proper to maintain and exercise the jurisdiction thus granted.

But the Act, as if anticipating the [illegible] What is a matter or proceeding in Bankruptcy, goes farther, and in the same section [illegible] that "the jurisdiction hereby [illegible] extend to all [illegible] and [illegible] between the bankrupt and any creditor or [illegible] shall claim any debt or demand under the [illegible] ruptcy: to the collection of all the [illegible] bankrupt; to the ascertainment of the [illegible] specific amount [illegible] priorities and the conflicting interests of all parties, and to the marshalling and distribution of the different funds and assets, so as to [illegible] of all parties and due distribution [illegible] among all the creditors; and to all [illegible] and things to be done under and in virtue of the bankruptcy, until the final [illegible] ment of the estate of the bankrupt, and [illegible] of the proceedings in bankruptcy [illegible] that "said Courts shall have full [illegible] to compel obedience to all orders and [illegible] them in bankruptcy, by process of [illegible] other remedial process, to the same extent [illegible] the Circuit Courts now have in any suit [illegible] therein, in equity."

The judgments now sought to be [illegible] by the respondents against the property of the bankrupt, were all given after the filing of the [illegible] in bankruptcy. The decree pronouncing Wallace a bankrupt, took effect by relation, from the date of such filing, and divested him of all [illegible] not excepted from the operation of the Act [illegible] saved to him by section 14. The [illegible] the respondents, being levied within four [illegible] of the commencement of proceedings in bankruptcy, will be dissolved by the [illegible] to the assignee, and for the purposes of this [illegible] must now be considered as of no effect [illegible].

This being the state of the case, it is [illegible] that the respondents by their executions are endeavoring to subject the estate of the bankrupt, [illegible] now and since May 30th, under the [illegible] jurisdiction of this Court, for distribution among all the creditors—to the exclusive payment of their particular demands.

This property no longer belongs to the bankrupt, and is not liable to be taken on [illegible] against his property. The policy and aim of the bankrupt law is to compel an equal [illegible] of the estate of the bankrupt among all his creditors (7 How, 644.). Can this Court prevent this interference with the estate of the bankrupt, on the part of these respondents, by injunction? After a careful examination of the Act of 1867 and the decisions given under that of 1841, I think it can. Indeed, I have no doubt of it. The proceedings in bankruptcy are in the nature of equity proceedings. The property seized by the [illegible] is the assets of the bankrupt, and the jurisdiction of this Court is specially extended to the collection and distribution of such assets. This [illegible], with others granted by the first section of the Act, is in its nature an equity power, and may be exercised by proceedings in the nature of equity proceedings. In addition the Act constitutes this Court a "Court of Bankruptcy" with power to do any act necessary and proper for the due administration and settlement of the bankrupt's estate. Proceedings by petition for the exercise of equity power were common in the District Courts under the act of 1841, (2 Story 131, 222, 334, 653, 3 Story 393, 428). This power was expressly affirmed by the Supreme Court in Ex parte Christy (7 How, 312).

It is the duty of this Court, by means of the jurisdiction given to it, to preserve and distribute the estate of the bankrupt among his creditors, as the Act prescribes. The respondents by means of these executions are attempting to [illegible] this distribution of the estate. An injunction is a proper remedy or means to prevent this wrong and fraud upon the law from being accomplished. A petition to the Court is a proper means of invoking this power. The demurrer to the petition is overruled at the cost of the demurrant.

As a matter for future practice, it is proper to add, that in exercising the equity power which pertains to this Court as a Court of Bankruptcy, it is not deemed necessary or proper, that resort should be had to the formal and plenary proceedings common to suits in equity in the Circuit Court. A petition stating the facts and praying for the order, relief or proceeding sought for, is deemed sufficient. For the same reason a motion by Lockwood to dissolve this injunction would have been sufficient without resorting to the formality of a demurrer. Nor need notice be given of an application for an injunction, unless directed by the Court or judge. The restriction in the Act of 1793, against issuing injunctions without notice applies only to suits in equity in the Circuit and Supreme Courts. It does not affect the allowance of injunctions under the mere equity power conferred upon the District Courts by the Bankrupt Act, in relation to matters pending therein, and within its exclusive cognizance.

Repudiation

The Democratic platform [illegible] endorsed by Seymour and Blair [illegible] the following [illegible]:

> Third—The payment of the public debt of the United States as rapidly as practicable [illegible] and when the obligations of the government do not expressly state upon their face or the law under which they were issued does not provide that they shall be paid in coin they ought in right and in justice to be paid in the lawful money of the United States

The lawful money referred to is greenbacks. The Pendleton finance policy is to pay off the government debt in [illegible] legal tender notes and Pendleton himself has declared since the Democratic Convention that the financial part of the platform is, in spirit in accordance with his theory. Now what does the proposition amount to? Simply to repudiate a portion of the national debt honestly contracted and for which the holders of bonds gave their coin. There are still outstanding many millions of bonds issued previous to the passage of the Legal Tender act of Feb 25 1862 some of them issued as early as 1847. Many of these bonds are not yet redeemable. When they were issued the only lawful currency of the United States was silver and gold. The laws under which they were issued being passed at a time when no other lawful money than silver and gold was in existence or in contemplation did not provide nor did the bonds expressly state on their face, that the loans were to be paid in coin though the faith of the nation was invariably pledged that the debts thus incurred should be paid. The loan of February 1861 is an example of this kind. The bonds were issued to the amount of about eighteen and a half million dollars,—$25,000 000 were authorized—bearing interest at the rate of six per cent and redeemable after June 1st 1881. That act did not provide for coin payment of either principal or interest, though the government borrowed nothing but coin—no legal tender paper money of the United States being then in existence. The act authorizing the loan did, however expressly provide that "The faith of the United States is hereby pledged for the due payment of the interest and the redemption of the principal of said stock."

Can anybody say that either creditor or debtor ever contemplated anything but coin payment of both principal and interest? Can that debt be honestly paid in anything else? The lender gave coin and received a solemn pledge of payment and payment in any other currency would be a fraud and an infamous reproach forever upon the dishonest debtor. Suppose now that Congress shall have a Democratic majority in 1881 when these bonds become payable. Under the policy of the Democratic platform the bonds will be paid in irredeemable paper money though it may be worth no more than fifty cents per dollar. Here then is not only a repudiation of half the obligation but the pretended payment is made with a mere "promise to pay"—for that is all that the legal tender notes are. The transaction is not really a payment, but an exchange of securities with a repudiation of the interest which the former securities bore. Even if greenbacks should appreciate to par, it would be as dishonest as if A. B. should borrow coin of C D giving his note with interest, and at maturity should pay principal and interest with another note without in[illegible] and payable at convenience. In the ordinary transactions of business if A B should insist that such a proceeding can cancel his obligation, he would be rightly called a dishonest man and in a short time would find himself utterly without credit. No government can safely take more license in this respect than can an individual. National credit depends upon National honesty and good faith. Obligations must be paid according to the spirit of the contract and the mutual understanding of the parties, or there is an end of confidence and the borrower must suffer in good name in credit and in pocket.

The act of February, 1862 authorizes the issue of bonds to the amount of $500 000,000 bearing six per cent interest, and redeemable after five years and payable twenty years from date. This law did not provide specifically for payment in gold nor do the bonds expressly call for coin. Yet those bonds were negotiated on the distinct understanding that the interest was to be paid in coin and that they were to be redeemed with coin. The act provided that all duties on imported goods should be paid in coin and that such coin should be set apart as a separate and specific fund to be applied, as the act recites as follows:

"First—To the payment in coin of the interest on the bonds and notes of the United States."

"Second—To the purchase or payment of one per centum of the entire debt of the United States to be made in each fiscal year etc."

Now can it be argued that, though neither the act or the bonds expressly stipulate coin payments any other than payments in coin were understood between the contracting parties? The bonds went into the market and sold at such prices as coin redemption in prospect made them worth. The buyers paid as much more for them, on the understanding warranted by the language of the act as gold was worth more than paper. The bonds are now redeemable. Suppose that the policy of the Democratic platform be carried out in the next Congress—redemption in greenbacks—will the obligation of the government be cancelled in good faith? There can be but one answer to such a question. No. The government will have paid its interest bearing bonds with another "promise to pay" at convenience without interest and this is repudiation. It is not a payment at all even in the hard sense of law but a mere substitution of a depreciated security for a [illegible] one. It is a total repudiation of the interest—for the contract calls for interest till payment of the principal shall be made and a repudiation of the principal by so much as greenbacks may be worth at the time less than coin. The government by this policy will wrong its creditors of a portion of what is due them will injure its own credit and will inflict mutual injury upon itself and the people by an undue inflation of the currency and a further consequent depreciation of the value of the [illegible].

On this point [illegible] have the [illegible] [illegible] 20 [illegible]

If on the other hand we [illegible] by [illegible] we [illegible] equally [illegible] business and [illegible] industry and make all prices mere matters of gambling [illegible] stocks and chances. This will end as [illegible] in the South [illegible] [illegible] issue of greenbacks [illegible]

The San Francisco Ar[illegible] says that [illegible] within the last six years [illegible] the [illegible] work of the [illegible]. This is how it happened: Grant [illegible] the great work [illegible] the great work [illegible] promised by Blair will [illegible]

About two thousand acres of flax have been raised in Oregon the present season. It [illegible] expected to yield thirty thousand bushels [illegible] seed.

The Railroad Lawsuits

PORTLAND Aug 10 1868

EDITOR OREGONIAN

The action at law which has just terminated in the Circuit Court for this county in regard to the rights and franchises of the Oregon Central Railroad Company (known as the west side company) has been a matter of such general attention throughout the State affecting the business of the company and the best interests of the State that I think a brief statement of the facts in connection with it would be read with interest by all your readers. I therefore beg permission to make such a statement through the OREGONIAN. At first let me assure you and your readers that although I feel all that partiality toward the Oregon Central (west side) Company which it is natural for an attorney to feel toward a client whom he knows to be in the right I shall make no statement but what can be substantiated by record evidence and by the testimony of as reliable business men as any in the State. Neither shall I say ought in malice or [illegible] which it is not important for the public to know since the public are called upon to contribute money to carry out these two railroad enterprises.

This was an action commonly known as Quo Warranto instituted in the name of the State of Oregon by I. R. Moores President of the East side Company against J Gaston President of the Oregon Central (west side) Company and against others who were made defendants for the purpose of having the incorporation of the West side Company judicially declared null and void and to preclude the defendants from acting as a corporation. Thus it will be seen that although the action was nominally instituted by the State against certain individuals it was in fact an action by the East side Company against the Oregon Central, or West side Company.

The complaint set forth that the defendants, J Gaston, S G Reed, R R Thompson, Col Cornelius, Captain Ainsworth Jesse Applegate, M M Melvin, W T Newby and others who are identified with the west side Company were acting as a corporation without being legally incorporated—which is declared by the statute to be ground for an action of this kind. The illegality which they ascribed to the incorporation of the west side Company was this. They said the persons before whom the Articles of Incorporation were acknowledged, were not Notaries Public at the time said acknowledgements were taken; that therefore such acknowledgements amounted to no acknowledgements at all; that therefore said Articles of Incorporation were not acknowledged (which the law required them to be) and were null and void. No man of common understanding need be told that this was a mere quibble even if it had been true, for if a man should deed a piece of land to his neighbor and receive his pay for it and acknowledge the deed before a person whom both supposed at the time to be a justice of the peace, and should afterwards try to get the land back, because he found out that the person was not a justice of the peace all right thinking people would pronounce it a dishonest transaction whether the law allowed him to succeed or not.

But the charge in this railroad case was not true. The persons before whom the Articles of Incorporation were acknowledged were notaries public and the articles were duly and properly acknowledged. They contained certificates showing such to be the fact and the defendants answered that the articles were properly acknowledged, before persons authorized to take such acknowledgments, and they challenged investigation. The east side company tried every scheme to put off the case till the next term of the Court to delay and protract the litigation to avoid an investigation of the fact which they themselves had had alleged but it would not work. The west side did not propose to squander its energies and time in this sort of way. It was accused of acting without incorporation and it demanded that its accuser should come up to the work and make its words good or take the consequences of a failure. On yesterday morning the east side attorney moved to dismiss the case with a judgment against his client for the costs. This was objected to by the defendants but the Court ruled (and correctly too) that if the plaintiff desired to get his case out of Court by that door it was his right to do so. Thus the case terminated.

The question I have stated above was the only question in the case (all other matters in issue being declared immaterial and irrelevant by the Court), and that question was one which can not be tried in any other form of action. It was a question of life or death—corporation or destruction—to the west side company. It was fairly and fully before the Court and the defendants were ready and anxious to meet it.

A great deal has been said about the litigation between the two companies and every well wisher of the country has deprecated it and desired that it might be speedily [illegible] some have been led to suppose that the west side Company was to blame [illegible]. The Company has done all it could to settle [illegible] between it and the east side [illegible] possible and thus put an end to litigation [illegible] the public might know the rights of each company and that the energies of each might be expended in building railroads and not in fighting lawsuits. To remove any impression [illegible] of blame in this matter from the west side Company I beg leave to state that on [illegible] April [illegible] a written proposition was addressed by J Gaston President of the west side Company [illegible] to the east side Company which if it had been accepted would have terminated all litigation [illegible] early as far back as the [illegible] of the Supreme Court which will convene at Salem [illegible] one month from this date. His proposition was in these words:

That both companies shall agree in writing to submit [illegible] organization with any evidence [illegible] may be legally admissible and the question of the legality of the [illegible] of both companies together with the question of the right of either in law or equity to the exclusive use of the corporate name The Oregon Central Railroad Company by proper pleadings [illegible] amicable suits and actions to the Judge of the Fourth Judicial District for adjudication and settlement with right of appeal to [illegible] parties the trials to proceed as fast as the Courts [illegible] and determine the questions involved.

This was certainly a fair proposition. No one can point out an unjust feature in it. And it would have settled all the questions between the two companies in the shortest possible time. This proposition was not accepted by the east side company.

This letter is longer than I intended to make it and yet there are many other things in this connection which it would profit the people to know.

I hope I have not trespassed more upon your space than upon the patience of your readers.

Truly yours, W. LAIR HILL

The Restorer of the Union

[illegible] of Grant [illegible] the speak of [illegible] campaigns and the [illegible] conduct of them.

As [illegible] most excellent military work [illegible] of Vicksburg and Chattanooga will take a very high place in military history but the record of Grant's career at the time will be more carefully studied by those who desire to form a true [illegible] of the character of the man who may be President of the Union. They will find it great prudence tempered with a Dentonesque audacity [illegible] a temper rarely ruffled a habit of [illegible] decision and reliance on his own judgment not the slightest fear of responsibility [illegible] a spark of vacillation keen attention to minute details and a capacity for broad [illegible] all the rare faculty [illegible] in Wellington of forming a just estimate of the facts which furnish the conditions of the problem and the [illegible] basis of fruitful action.

[illegible] here the characteristics of the man who heads the Republican ticket according to the judgment of a candid and intelligent student of his career. High military authorities both in England and on the continent have spoken of him in the same strain as the Spectator while in his own country which owes so much to his patriotism and genius men can be found who are so debased and perverted by partisan passions as to heap upon him the coarsest abuse. The editor of the Spectator estimating Grant's extraordinary military talents raised the question as to how far the characteristics manifested in his career as a general are likely to mark him in political life. Will his marvelous common sense asks the writer continue to supply the place of a defective political training? He answers the question by quoting the following remarkable extract from a letter by Sherman to Grant written in December 1863:

"Your reputation as a General is now far above that of any living man and partisans will maneuvre for your influence but if you can escape them as hitherto you have done you will be more powerful for good than it is possible to measure. You said that you were surprised at my assertion on this point but I repeat that from what I have seen and heard here I am more and more convinced of the truth of what I told you. Do as you have heretofore done. Preserve a plain military character and let others maneuvre as they will, you will beat them not only in fame but [illegible] the closing scenes of the war [illegible]"

That is precisely the work that Grant has been called upon to do. He is the somebody imperatively required to restore the health of the body politic. Sherman's words seem almost prophetic. The time has come for their fulfillment. Of all living men Grant is the best fitted by his own character by his past services and by the popular confidence he enjoys to act the noble part of restorer of the body politic.

Hon M F Conway writes as follows to the N Y [illegible]: In the recent Convention at New York the [illegible] element seems to have been entirely submerged in a whirlpool of Democratic radicalism. On the other hand the Convention of the Republican Party at Chicago was controlled by the [illegible] of that party and [illegible] Gen Grant [illegible] with Mr Seymour [illegible] the Democ[illegible]

A [illegible] says: Gen Grant and the Democracy [illegible] a great deal of business together within the past few years. Gen Grant has done [illegible] the Democrats have furnished [illegible] Frank P Blair. They will be dreadfully [illegible]

The Marysville Appeal says: The [illegible] weighing three and a half pounds [illegible]

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS!

A Pure and Powerful Tonic,

Corrective and Alterative, of wonderful efficacy in Diseases of the STOMACH, LIVER AND BOWELS.

PROTECTIVE PROPERTIES.

Prevents Fever and Ague and Billious Remittent Fevers; Fortifies the System against Miasma and the evil effects of unwholesome water, invigorates the organs of digestion and the bowels,
Steadies the Nerves and tends to Prolong Life.

REMEDIAL PROPERTIES.

Cures Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Sick and Nervous Headache General Debility Nervousness, Depression of Spirits Constipation Colic, Intermittent Fevers, Sea Sickness, Cramps and Spasms and all complaints of either sex arising from Bodily Weakness, whether inherent in the system or PRODUCED BY SPECIAL CAUSES

NOTHING THAT IS NOT WHOLESOME, GENIAL, and restorative in its nature, enters into the composition of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS This popular preparation contains no mineral of any kind; no deadly botanical element; no fiery excitant, but is a combination of the extracts of rare balsamic herbs and plants with the purest and mildest of all diffusive stimulants

The weak stomach is rapidly invigorated, and the appetite restored by this Tonic, and hence it works wonders in cases of Dyspepsia and in less confirmed forms of Indigestion Acting as a gentle and painless aperient, as well as upon the liver it also invariably relieves the Constipation superinduced by irregular action of the digestive and secretive organs

Persons of feeble habit liable to Nervous Attacks Lowness of Spirits, and Fits of Languor, find prompt and permanent relief from the Bitters. The testimony on this point is conclusive and from both sexes

As a Genuine Tonic HOSTETTER'S BITTERS produce effects which must be experienced or witnessed before they can be fully appreciated. In cases of Constitutional Weakness Premature Decay, and Debility and Decrepitude arising from old age, it exercises the electric influence. In the convalescent stages of all diseases it operates as a delightful invigorant When the powers of nature are relaxed, it operates to re... and re-establish them

Last, but not least, it is the only safe stimulant, being manufactured from sound and ... materials, and entirely free from the acrid elements present more or less in all the ordinary tonics and stomachics of the day

Veto of the Electoral College Resolution

WASHINGTON July 20—The President sent the following this afternoon to the Senate

To the Senate of the United States

I have given to the joint resolution entitled "A resolution excluding from the Electoral College the votes of the States lately in rebellion which shall not have been reorganized" as careful examination [illegible] subject during the few days that have intervened [illegible] Feeling [illegible] I herewith return the resolution to the Senate in which it originated with a brief statement of the reasons which have induced my action. This joint resolution is based upon the assumption that some of the States whose inhabitants were lately in rebellion are not now entitled to representation in Congress and to participate in the election of a President and Vice President of the United States. I have heretofore had occasion to give in detail my reasons for dissenting from this view. It is not necessary at this time to repeat them; it is sufficient to state that I continue strong in my conviction that the acts of secession by which a number of the States sought to dissolve their connection with the other States and to subvert the Union being unauthorized by the Constitution, and in direct violation thereof were from the beginning null and void. It follows necessarily that when the rebellion terminated the several States which had attempted to secede continued to be States in the Union and all that was required to enable them to resume their relations to the Union was that they should adopt the measures necessary to their practical restoration as States. Such measures were adopted and the legitimate result was that those States, having conformed to all the requirements of the Constitution resumed their former relations and became entitled to the exercise of all the rights guaranteed to them by its provisions. The joint resolution under consideration, however, seems to assume that by the insurrectionary acts of their respective inhabitants those States forfeited their rights as such and can never again exercise them except upon readmission into the Union on the terms prescribed by Congress. If this position be correct, it follows that they were taken out of the Union by virtue of their acts of secession, and hence, that the war waged upon them was illegal and unconstitutional. We would thus be placed in this inconsistent attitude, that while the war was commenced and carried on upon the distinct ground that the Southern States being component parts of the Union, were in rebellion against the lawful authority of the United States, upon its termination, we resort to a policy of reconstruction which assumes that it was not in fact a rebellion, but that the war was waged for the conquest of Territories assumed to be outside of the Constitutional Union. The mode and manner of receiving and counting electoral votes for President and Vice President of the United States, are in plain and simple terms prescribed by the Constitution. That instrument imperatively requires that the President of the Senate "shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted." Congress has therefore no power under the Constitution to receive the electoral votes or to reject them. The whole power is exhausted when in the presence of the two houses the votes are counted and the result declared. In this respect the power and duty of the President of the Senate are under the Constitution purely ministerial, when therefore the joint resolution declares that no electoral votes [illegible] or counted from States that, since the 4th of March, 1867, have not adopted a Constitution of State Government under which a State Government shall have been organized, a power is exercised which is nowhere delegated to Congress [illegible] upon the assumption that the State [illegible] prior to the 4th of March, 1867 [illegible] and void. The joint resolution [illegible] concedes that [illegible] by virtue of their organ[illegible] of March, 1867, but denies to them [illegible] of President [illegible] It follows either that this [illegible] wholly unauthorized and by the [illegible] a State [illegible] excluded [illegible] by reason of the [illegible] restored [illegible] were never out of [illegible] I am [illegible] that the joint resolution which deprives [illegible] of the right to have their votes for President and Vice President received and counted, is in conflict with the Constitution and that Congress has no more power to select the votes than those of the States which have [illegible] loyal to the Federal Union. It is worthy of remark that if the States whose inhabitants were recently in rebellion were legally and constitutionally organized and restored to their rights prior to the 4th of March, 1867, as I am [illegible] they were, the only legitimate authority [illegible] for President and Vice President can be held therein, must be derived from the Governments instituted before that period. It [illegible] follows that all the State Governments organized in those States under the acts of [illegible] for that purpose, and under military control, are [illegible] and of no validity what[illegible] in that view the votes cast in those [illegible] and Vice President in pur[illegible] of the acts [illegible] since the 4th of March, and in obedience to the so-called reconstruction acts of Congress cannot be legally received and [illegible] the only votes in those States that [illegible] will be those cast in [illegible] of the laws in force in the several [illegible] legislation by Congress upon [illegible] not refrain [illegible] the joint resolution that [illegible] inhabitants were lately in [illegible] be entitled to representation in the Electoral College, &c." If it is meant by this [illegible] that no State is to be allowed to vote for President and Vice President, all of [illegible] were engaged in the late Rebellion, it is apparent that no one of the States [illegible] from voting, since it is well [illegible] in every Southern State there were [illegible] who not only did not participate in the Rebellion, but who actually took part in the suppression or refrained from giving it any aid or countenance. I therefore conclude that the true meaning of the joint resolution is that no State, a portion of whose inhabitants were engaged in the Rebellion, shall be permitted to participate in the Presidential election except upon the terms and conditions therein prescribed. Assuming this to be the true construction of [illegible] the inquiry becomes pertinent—may those Northern States, a portion of whose inhabitants were actually in the Rebellion, be prevented, at the discretion of Congress, from having their electoral vote counted? It is well known [illegible] of the inhabitants of New York and a portion of the inhabitants of Virginia were alike engaged in the Rebellion, yet it is equally well known that Virginia as well as New York was at all [illegible] during the war recognized by the Federal [illegible] as a State in the Union—so clearly that upon the termination of hostilities it was not deemed [illegible] necessary for her restoration that a [illegible] Governor should be appointed, yet [illegible] this joint resolution, the people of Virginia, unless they comply with the terms it prescribes, are denied the right of voting for President and Vice President, while the people of New York, a portion of the inhabitants of which [illegible] also in rebellion, are permitted to have their [illegible] vote counted without undergoing [illegible] of reconstruction prescribed for Virginia. New York is no more a State than Virginia [illegible] is no much entitled to be represented in the Electoral College as the other. If Congress has the power to deprive Virginia of this right, it can exercise the same authority with respect to New York, or any other of the States [illegible] result of the Presidential election may be [illegible] and determined by Congress and the people be deprived of their rights under the Constitution to choose a President and Vice President of the United States. If Congress were to provide by law, that the votes of none of the States should be received and counted, if cast for a candidate who differed in political sentiment with a majority of the two Houses such legislation would at once be condemned by the country as an unconstitutional and revolutionary usurpation of power. It would, however, be exceedingly difficult to find in the Constitution any more authority for the passage of the joint resolution under consideration, than for an enactment looking directly to the rejection of all the votes, not in accord with the political preference of a majority of Congress. No power exists in the Constitution authorizing the joint resolution or the proposed law, the only difference being that one would be more palpably unconstitutional and revolutionary than the other, both would rest upon the [illegible] error that Congress has the power to prescribe terms and conditions to the right of the people of the States to cast their vote for President and Vice President. For the reasons thus indicated, I am constrained to return the joint resolution to the Senate for such further action thereon as Congress may deem necessary

A LONG SHOT—Paris has gone mad over "rifled cannon." The Charivari gives an illustrative drawing. An artilleryman has just fired a rifled cannon. A stranger asks if the ball hit the mark. A married lady who was in the habit of spending most of her time in the society of her neighbors happened one day to be taken ill and sent her husband in great haste for a physician. The husband ran a short distance, and then returned exclaiming "My dear, where shall I find you when I come back?"

"Hallo!" ejaculated an anxious guardian to his lovely neice, as he entered the parlor and saw her in the arms of a swain who had just popped the question and sealed it with a smack, "what's the time of day now?" "I should think it is now about half past twelve," was the cool reply, "you see that we are almost one."

A VERY PRETTY EXPERIMENT. Take a sheet of piece of ordinary writing paper, say commercial note and saturate it in a solution of bi-chromate of potassium one ounce with water three ounces and dry in the sun. Cut the paper into squares, of about three inches and double them back and forth until the form—a zigzag section—will stand on a table and ignite the top of the slip. The result will be a slow combustion, the products of the combustion growing out of the edge of the paper like spears of grass and curling over to represent very faithfully the curving and depending leaves of the palm and cane. If the process is carried on without drafts of air the result will be a bunch of beautiful blue-green filament, while the process of combustion itself will prove a means of pleasant recreation

PORTLAND OREGON July 14, 1868

P D MOORE, Esq Sir—

The undersigned having witnessed the exhibition in this city yesterday of your Extinguisher or Portable Self Acting Fire Engine would state that the first was in out of a fire kindled outside of the building erected in the rear of the Central Public School House made using shavings staves tar &c was effectually extinguished with one machine in a short time that [illegible] experiment of a fire in the inside of the building made by using shavings, kerosene, staves and dry goods was also promptly extinguished by the use of one machine in less than three minutes. The third experiment was left to the control of the Fire Department under the direction of the Chief Engineer and the building was fired inside and outside and when the fire was well under way the Chief Engineer gave the order to extinguish, the fire was effectually put out in about six minutes. A brisk breeze was blowing at the time, and we pronounce the experiment successful and satisfactory. We are satisfied that the EXTINGUISHER is very valuable [illegible] claims namely the prompt extinguishment of fires in their earlier stages and being portable self acting and always ready at a moment s notice, would, if generally introduced save much valuable property from destruction and we regard it as a valuable auxiliary to the Fire Department. They are indispensable in those localities where no steam or other fire engine is in use and we recommend their use generally in dwellings stores hotels, and public buildings

ON BOARD THE ALASKA, Portland July 13 1868

P D MOORE, Esq.—Sir I have just returned from witnessing the operation of your Extinguisher or Portable Self Acting Fire Engine and confess I was both surprised and highly pleased with its success

I have no doubt whatever of its efficiency and adaptation for putting out fires in their earlier stages however combustible the materials may be that are burning. Its action on a flame is really magical. They should be in every house of any value or which contains valuable property as well as on board of vessels. No one can estimate the additional security they give to both life and property. You will please furnish me two of the No 2 size immediately for the Alaska, as I sail for Honolulu to-morrow morning. Very respectfully
